Funding Agreement with the Commonwealth of Australia

Australia's rural research and development corporations (RDCs) are the mechanism by which primary producers and the government co-invest in research and development for industry and community benefits. This partnership between industry and government is reflected in joint funding and in input to RDC priorities and planning processes.

Section 33(4) of the PIRD Act allows the Minister to enter into a Funding Agreement (Agreement) with an R&D Corporation. The Commonwealth and AgriFutures Australia have agreed to enter into a Funding Agreement on the terms and conditions set out in this Agreement.

This Agreement between the government and AgriFutures Australia sets out expectations about performance, transparency and accountability to levy-payers, the government and to the public.

The Agreement also reflects the fact that cross-sectoral research and development challenges in Australia often affect multiple or all rural industries. The Agreement therefore recognises AgriFutures Australia’s role in cooperative R&D and the system for coordination and priority-setting of the national rural R&D effort.

The Agreement also reflects AgriFutures Australia’s unique role among the RDCs as the RDC responsible for supporting small industry, multi industry, cross-sectoral and national interest R&D for rural industries. To help achieve these objectives AgriFutures Australia receives appropriation funding to facilitate investment that supports analysis of issues of importance to rural industries and investment that delivers benefits to these industries and the Australian community.

The Parliament has also legislated to provide for statutory RDCs to undertake marketing, where the relevant industry requests this and agrees to raise a marketing levy. The Agreement establishes governance arrangements that would apply to this function.

b) Planning and Accountability Framework

The overarching planning document for AgriFutures Australia is its R&D 5 Year Plan (‘the Plan’). The Plan outlines the strategies and priorities for the next five years and aligns our objectives and outcomes with the priorities and objectives of government and our key stakeholders. The Plan is supported by an Annual Operational Plan, other key planning and governance documents, and a series of program (or industry) five year or three year RDE plans.

AgriFutures Australia investments are primarily guided by the program and evaluation frameworks, both of which have been developed in close consultation with our key research providers and stakeholders and ensure a high level of transparency and accountability.

The annual report is the documented assessment on how AgriFutures Australia has performed in the previous financial year against performance objectives and targets and those of the government.
